I am going to create a website for myself (Ahmet Kizal) called IQ Coders. As I create content for graphic design and web development courses, I will be sharing information and courses here. As part of the course, changes to the design can also be presented here to improve the site. Potential clients should learn about graphic design and web development. It should be a site where those who want to take a course can get information and be satisfied.

The website is also intended to serve as a place for me to remove and add course content at any time. This means that there is always an up-to-date website that is easily accessible for users and applications.

My aim is to design the website in terms of continuous development and to keep it as up-to-date as possible.

The website is in English, so international customers can also use the website.
